Links and structure

- Internal links in the pages' content: 22, to 8 different pages
- Navigation inside the pages, such as breadcrumbs and the topic sidebar: 28 links
- Links to other websites: 354, reaching 5 different websites. Of these in the pages' content: 320
- No reference leads nowhere. 2,288 references to pages, images and files were checked.
- Old addresses that redirect permanently to their new address, so existing links and bookmarks keep working: 157
- Pages no page's content links to: . They are reached through menus and overviews.
- Pages more than three clicks from the home page or reachable only by their address:

Header and footer: 13 links per page, the same on every page. They make every page reachable and do not count as internal linking here.

How the areas link

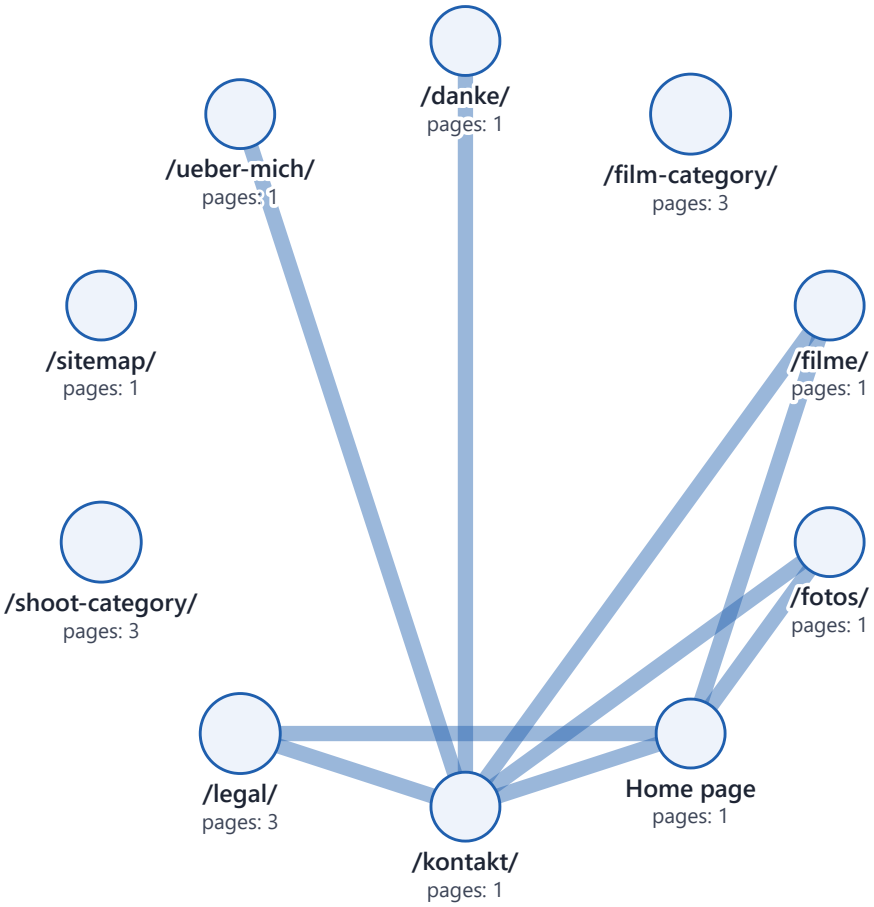

The drawing shows the areas of the site as circles, sized by their number of pages. A line joins two areas whose pages link to each other in their content, thicker the more links there are. The table below gives the same numbers.

Accessibility

All 34 pages were checked the way the browser builds them: header, content and footer together. 0 rules were checked:

Accessibility

Check	Result

Colour contrast: colour pairs below the minimum: 1, of 15 the stylesheets put together. Affected (text colour / background): text-dark / white 1.06:1 (dark)

An automated check covers only part of the requirements. Whether texts are understandable and whether the site works well with a screen reader is judged by a person.

Search engines

- 34 of 34 pages have a title of their own.
- 34 of 34 pages have a description of their own for the search result.
- 34 of 34 pages state their definitive address.
- 34 of 34 pages point to their version in the other language.
- Pages with structured data (JSON-LD): 34. Types described: Person, PostalAddress, WebPage, WebSite
- Pages with a title of their own for the preview when shared: 34. Pages with a preview image: 34
- Deliberately kept out of search engines, such as content still under review or the error page: 24
- The sitemap lists 10 addresses for search engines.
- A robots.txt is in place.
- A favicon for browser tabs and bookmarks is in place.
- A web app manifest is in place.

For AI systems and programs

- The robots.txt lets every crawler, AI crawlers included, read the website.
- Rules of their own in the robots.txt: GPTBot, OAI-SearchBot, ChatGPT-User, ClaudeBot, anthropic-ai, PerplexityBot, Google-Extended, Applebot-Extended, CCBot, Bytespider
- An llms.txt summarises the website for AI systems.
- Pages also offered as plain text (Markdown) for AI systems: 10

Design: colours, type, spacing

Colours, type and spacing are set once and used the same way on every page. Counted is what the delivered website actually uses of them.

Colour families used	Distinct colours	Fonts
4 of 10	12	3

Type sizes used	Spacing steps used
15 of 17	8 of 12

Colour families used

Family	Colour	Shades used
primary	#ff3d1c	4 of 8

The server is instructed to deliver pages, styling and scripts compressed. Browsers may keep images, styling and fonts, so they are not loaded again on the next visit.

How fast the pages load for real visitors only shows once the site is live and is not part of this report.

Data protection

No page loads anything from a third-party server: no fonts, no scripts, no embedded content. No third party learns that the website was visited.

What was checked is what the pages load on their own. The privacy policy itself is a matter for a legal review.

Security

The server is instructed to send these protective headers:

- `Strict-Transport-Security`
- `Cache-Control`

Not set: `Content-Security-Policy`, `X-Content-Type-Options`, `Referrer-Policy`, `Permissions-Policy`, `X-Frame-Options`

Redirecting requests from http:// to https:// is not set up in the website's server configuration. It may be set separately at the host.

Requests under the second address (with or without www.) are redirected to the website's one address.

This report describes the instruction to the server. Whether the server sends them is shown by a check of the live website.

How this was measured

Everything was measured on the finished export – the same files that go onto the server. Pages, links, images and files were counted, every page was checked for accessibility and for its search engine details, and every reference to a third-party server was recorded.

Not part of this report: loading times for real visitors, use with assistive technology by people, the legal assessment of the legal texts, and the live server's responses.
